

August 19, 2020 Update

Hello Healers,

We are excited to see you next week. Remember, as we are seeing across the country, how we practice self-care and community care when we are out and about is critical to the success we will have here at the college this fall. Wear a mask. Wash/sanitize your hands often. Keep your distance. Stay home if you are not feeling well and let someone know.

New:

Students, please note:

Today is the last day to submit your application for non-medical remote learning accommodations. Please submit your request using the link below. Decisions will be communicated via email on Friday August 21. <https://forms.gle/bndhZ3kZPYJEv6gYA>

Please check your portal for your updated schedule. You must attend the class section that you have been assigned to accommodate social distancing and room capacity.

Reminders:

These pages, updated as/when needed, provide general guidance as we plan for fall.
