

Dual Admissions Agreement
Between
Southeast Community College
And
Bryan College of Health Sciences

Bryan College of Health Sciences (BCHS) and Southeast Community College (SCC) are entering into a dual admissions agreement for students in the health professions to provide a seamless transition from the associate of applied science degree in a health professions field to the bachelor of science degree in nursing or health professions.

Students applying for and accepted under the dual admissions process will be admitted to both colleges upon entry into a health professions program at Southeast Community College. Students at SCC desiring dual admissions must apply for dual admissions status by the completion of their first year of enrollment at SCC. After this time period, SCC students would utilize the regular admission process at BCHS. Degree completion students from SCC must complete at least 30 credits at BCHS to graduate with the bachelors degree. The remaining credits required for the degree may be awarded via transfer credit evaluation.

- Upon graduation from SCC with the Associate of Applied Science Degree in Nursing with a GPA of 2.0 or higher and Registered Nurse licensure in Nebraska, the graduate is guaranteed matriculation into the RN-BSN program at BCHS. The graduate has one year after graduation for enrolling in the Bryan College of Health Sciences RN-BSN program. After one year, the graduate will need to go through the regular admission process for the RN-BSN program.
- Upon graduation from SCC with the Associate of Applied Science Degree in Business, Emergency Medical Services/Paramedic, Human Services, Long Term Care, Administration, Medical Laboratory Technology, Physical Therapist Assistant, Radiologic Technology, Respiratory Care, or Surgical Technology with a GPA of 2.0 or higher, the graduate is guaranteed matriculation into the Bachelor of Science Degree Completion program for the Bachelor of Science in Health Professions or the Bachelor of Science in Healthcare Studies. The graduate has one year after graduation for enrolling in the Bryan College of Health Sciences Bachelor of Science in Health Professions program. After one year, the graduate will need to go through the regular admission process for the health professions program.
